The 27-year friendship agreement between Hiroshima Prefecture and Hawaii promotes cultural and educational exchange. It allows the students currently enrolled in Hawaii public schools to attend the Hiroshima Global Academy (HiGA) for three years, preparing them as global leaders. HiGA, a public international baccalaureate school, offers a diverse curriculum and welcomes 20 international students annually . Hawaii students can earn an International Baccalaureate diploma tuition-free, only covering dormitory and food costs.

To learn more about this opportunity, we are hosting an online information session with the Hawaii Department of Education. If you would like to participate, please join the webinar using the QR code to the right.
